

Artist Statement

I am an abstract painter and have been an artist all of my life.

Confronted with the anxiety of the blank canvas and with that resulting energy, I paint until I can work no more; Lines are added that you cannot see because they have been pulverized by light. Images that you might recognize surface and vanish. The objects and relationships that seem to exist in the picture plane instead exist within this subversive paradox; The paint surface is a mirror upon which viewers ultimately find themselves.
